

LEADING DEMOCRAT
Some weeks ago called Creel, the news-fair, a "licensed liar." This being so, the American public who are forced to read his doctored peace news from Europe, or read none, are surely free to say amen to this apt characterization of Creel now that such an abundance of proof has been given of its entire truthfulness.

Enough has leaked through, despite the censored cable and wireless news, to show that President Wilson is far from securing from the statesmen of France and England an agreement with his vague peace ideas. In the very teeth of the inspired statement of such party hacks as Lawrence, Creel et al., that England will accede to the suggestion that she reduce her navy, the writer ventures the prediction that as a fact England will do nothing of the kind, but will continue, (as indeed she ought), to be the world's foremost power on the sea.

Nay, England, with a gullet from 4,000 to 12,000 miles long, must have a mighty navy, else a few piratical submarines like those of the Huns, could starve her to death in a little over a week!

Mr. Wilson's threat that if she does not thus agree to commit possible suicide, America will outspeed her till she is bankrupt in the race for naval supremacy, was wholly uncalled for, and, moreover does not, represent the reasonable sentiment of our people.

We within our huge continent entirely self-supporting in all things, including food, could never be starved, and therefore, have no imperative need to possess "the biggest navy in the world," but may properly content ourselves with building and maintaining at a high efficiency, a very strong navy, next, let us say, in size to England's.

Again the President is unwisely contending that a large number of questions that are only remotely connected with the question of peace shall also be decided at the Peace Conference, in fact, that some of them, such as the "League of Nations"—whatever that may be—and the "Freedom of the Seas"—another mystery—shall be settled before the real vital issue, peace, shall be considered.

Acting upon the President's suggestions there are already a dozen or more countries, from far off China to Siberia, clamoring that their domestic troubles, questions of government, racial disputes, etc., etc., shall be heard. The result will be to befog the one great and pressing issue of peace, and breed confusion, delay and possibly a dangerous dissension.

The role of Pater Patriae for all mankind, is one no single mortal can play under any circumstances, and any foolish attempt to do so, will only end in failure, maybe, in disaster.
Heaven knows, the first task of the Peace Conference, to make it impossible for Germany a second time murderously to attempt the world's enslavement, is job enough without lugging in a couple dozen more. If the President's course is insisted upon, we fear grave consequences will result.

800 WOMEN NEEDED BY SALVATION ARMY

Commander Evangeline Booth Says War Relief Work
Must Be Extended.

Commander Evangeline Booth, leader of the Salvation Army in the United States, has been suddenly called upon to furnish 800 additional war work women for France. The request is contained in a report just received by her from Col. William A. Barker of the Salvationist forces, whom she sent to France over a year ago to establish hutment and general war relief work with the American troops.

"We will do all we can to fill this demand," said Commander Booth when discussing the approaching United War Work Campaign, "and the need itself should impress the American public all the more with the absolute necessity for sustaining and enlarging the war-relief work of the seven or eight organizations, besides the noble Red Cross, now merged for a drive for funds. Each is a vital cog in a vast machine for human relief, and each is indispensable, serving its particular elements in its own way.

"The Salvation Army was born in hardship, reared in privation and trained to every phase of human misery and how to cope with it. Perhaps that accounts in some degree for the success our work has attained and for which we are thankful.

"We are of the common people, and we toil on a practical basis. We learned the lesson of how to do it in the Boer war, when we stood at the side of Britain's troops and weathered it out to the end. We have been tried by fire, and the mothers and fathers of America, as in other countries, trust the Salvation Army to do the thing they would like to do for their men if they but had the chance.

"With 1,210 trained workers at the front, operating from 420 huts and dugouts, the Salvation Army is doing, has done and will continue to do its best for the cause of humanity and Liberty."

LAST WORDS OF GREAT MEN

Notable Utterances That Have Been Accepted by the World as More or Less Authentic.

First words of human beings everywhere are as much alike in their significance as are in the essentials of dependence and trustfulness the infant who stammer them. Last words differ as greatly in purport as do the utterances in age, experience, environment, intellect and character. Of the many "dying sentences" that have passed into the category of familiarations it is, of course, impossible always to separate the apocrypha from the real. To attempt such a vision would not be worth the pains it is better to take on trust the plausible and the fairly authentic. Some of these are the deliberate speeches or those in full possession of bodily strength but about to suffer execution.
Such are Sir Thomas More's adjuration as he faced the scaffold, "See me safe up—for my coming down I cut shift for myself." Sir Walter Raleigh's reflection on the axe, "This is a short remedy but a sure one for all ills!" Madame Roland's "O Liberty, what crimes are committed in thy name!" and Nathan Hale's "I only regret that I have but one life to give for my country." Other "last words" embody a dying effort at coherence or are mere ly the murmurs of delirium. Two famous farewells are attributed to Robert Louis Stevenson: "Draw the curtain, I am going to see a great great perhaps." Goethe's plea, which the world has refused to take as spoken literally, for "Light! more light!" has a more modern counterpart in Tennyson's enigmatic "I have opened it," perhaps referring to the volume of Shakespeare at his side but susceptible also of esoteric interpretation.

Beautiful Chinese Gardens.
From time immemorial China has been called the flowery kingdom, a name given by the Chinese themselves and singularly suited to the land which for ages was like an oasis of flowers of the spirit in the world desert of barbarism, observes the New York World.

In this oasis grew the arts of the bronze and stone worker, of the silk maker and embroiderer, of the potter, of the painter on silk, of the poet, philosopher and ethical devotee.

But China was not named the flowery kingdom because of these flowers of the mind. Her flora is one of the most luxuriant in the world. It is estimated to consist of some 12,000 species, 9,000 of which are known and one-half of which are indigenous and not found elsewhere.

Such being the flora of China, it is readily understood, that horticulture and gardening early became a skilled and honored profession.

Concerning Natural Death.

"Under normal conditions most complex animals have a characteristic and rather sharply defined duration of life.
But one-celled animals, which reproduce by fission, are apparently immortal unless life is stopped by what may be called an accident, for as the cell divides in half, neither part may be called the parent, and both halves will go on reproducing. And by taking cuttings from a plant, a part of the original may be kept living indefinitely by repeated cuttings, while the parent plant dies at the close of its usual duration of life. Thus it would appear," concludes a writer in the Journal of Heredity, "that natural death is connected only with organisms which are composed of different organs which are inseparable."

We feel that the growing sentiment in favor of the total abolition of the liquor traffic as is shown by the fact that Delaware has ratified the Amendment to the National Constitution, enables us to what we ask.

Second, we earnestly ask that laws be enacted which shall enable our Executives to curb the unlawful tendencies of this traffic that our City may be saved from the disgraceful scenes that we have witnessed, which have given as far West as Chicago our City an unenviable name.

And while we do not descend to the use of threats, we do feel justified in saying that since the things we ask are in the interest of the fair name and good order of our City, we will hold the dominant party responsible in this matter. We feel that we have good grounds upon which to base our plea.

Some Weather!

Last winter was a record breaker. This year it may be the same. Who knows? Are you prepared to keep warm no matter how hard the wind blows or how low the thermometer goes?

Better conserve your coal by using a Perfection Oil Heater. The Perfection is safe and it will keep any room in the house warm and comfortable in the most severe weather.

And, you will save money, for a Perfection burns an economical fuel. But be particular what kind of kerosene you use.

ATLANTIC Rayolight

OUR STORE One Huge Bargain Counter

Extraordinary conditions call for extraordinary remedies. The sudden partnership dissolution of the firm of Fogel & Burstan is a case in point. To make the withdrawal of Mr. Burstan feasible it is necessary to double the amount of our sales, and thus raise the required cash. To double our sales it is necessary to furnish a motive strong enough to make the average customer buy much more heavily than usual. Only one thing will do that—namely, unusually heavy price reductions.

Therefore, we are putting in a wholesale fashion, the contents of our shelves and drawers upon one Huge Bargain Table!

In a word, we say again, Fogel & Burstan's Department Store will for a limited number of days, be On The Bargain Table!

What it means to buy goods of all kinds from 15 to 30 per cent off—everybody understands pretty well. But to prove that we mean just what we say we give below a few price illustrations on our new Bargain Table basis, these few articles being samples of all the rest.

It Means A Lot to Me

Mark R. Moore, a well-known moulder living at 339 Partridge avenue, Lebanon, Pa., said Monday: "It means a lot to me a well man after suffering as I did. Nervousness and stomach trouble were my complaints. I ached and ached and everything irritated me; could not rest at night."

"Not until I used Tonall, which I bought at Berger's Drug store in Lebanon did I get relief. Now I have a good appetite, sleep peacefully and go about my work easily and am more vigorous daily. Tonall drove away all my stomach trouble and my nerves don't bother me."

The above testimonial was given July 1918.

Tonall is sold at the MIDDLETOWN DRUG Co. Inc. and Jester's, Delaware City.

Lewis' Meat Market

ON OF YOUR PERIME ROASTS

of tender toothsome meat, is really the most economical, for there is no waste to it. Every bit can be used. That would still be true even if our prices were higher than others. But wise housekeepers who have made comparisons declare our prices as low as those for meats of any grade.
